

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Provided is an image communication apparatus which, if encoded image information is received, 5 controls the form in which the received image information is printed in dependence upon whether a specific type of printing paper has been loaded or in dependence upon whether color-space information of the received image information matches a prescribed color 10 space.